

S.J. PHILLIPS

Pair of 19th century diamond flowerhead cluster earrings, c.1850, of stylised Tudor rose form, each with a larger diamond to centre bordered by smaller stones, framed by five Cupid's bow shaped petals, set throughout with old cushion and European rounded cut diamonds, open set in silver and gold, later earring fittings

Width 2.2cm / 7/8"

Weight: 15.5g