

S.J. PHILLIPS

19th century emerald and diamond flowerhead drop-swag cluster corsage brooch, c.1890, surmounted by a principal Tudor rose flowerhead with central round faceted emerald and double row five-petal surround, set with diamonds, suspending an articulated pointed swag of diamond set leaves and smaller five-petal flowerheads and diamond collet buds, hung to centre with a pear shaped faceted emerald within a diamond border, claw, cut-down and collet set in silver and gold, the diamonds of cushion and old European cut, with Austrian control marks and later brooch fitting with modern stamp

Length 9.8cm / 3 7/8"

Weight: 41.5g