

S.J. PHILLIPS

19th century diamond six petalled flowerhead cluster brooch, c.1840, after an earlier design, of symmetric form, centred by a principal cushion cut diamond, the navette shaped petals each with a graduated five stone open middle to a border of graduating smaller diamonds, partially open to the cut-down collet setting in silver of old cushion and old European cuts, later brooch fitting

Width 4.6cm / 1 13/16"

Weight: 16g