S.J. PHILLIPS

19th century carved cabochon amethyst and diamond cluster flowerhead pendant, c.1840,

the five petals each formed of a carved and polished drop shaped amethyst, bordered by graduating cushion cut diamonds, a central principal old rounded brilliant cut diamond cluster forming the raised stamen, claw set within a scalloped coronet mount, with single stone cushion diamond between each petal similarly set, the remainder open cut down collet set in silver and gold, hinged pendant loop to verso for wear either way up

Length 4cm / 1 5/8"

Width 3.6cm / 1 3/8"

Weight: 19.5g