S.J. PHILLIPS

Early 19th century diamond floral and foliate tremblant spray brooch c.1810, with two principal five-petal flowerheads, each comprising a cushion cut diamond to the centre, the petals each formed of a diamond cluster with two larger stones and graduating outer borders, the surrounding spray formed of further diamond collets, all open set in silver and gold with later brooch fitting Width of flower heads: 3cm / 1&#65533;"

Length of brooch: 7cm / 2 3/4"

Height of brooch: 6cm / 2 1/4"