S.J. PHILLIPS

Pair of 19th century Etruscan style "Campana" sun-chariot crescent gold earrings by Castellani, Rome c.1860, each with circular top centred by stylised flowerhead to ropework border, the central section composed of a gathering of angels surrounding a god riding four horses, suspending a series of chain tassels with foliate and urn shaped terminations, signed to the reverse, the tops detachable

Notes:

Inspired by a pair said to be from Bolsena, Italy, 4th century BC, now in the Louvre, Paris. For a similar pair by Castellani see the Museo Nazionale Etrusco di villa Giulia, Rome Length 11cm / 4 3/8"
Weight: 65g