

S.J. PHILLIPS

Early 20th century diamond garland brooch-pendant necklace possibly by Cartier, c.1910, the oval shaped top formed of a laurel wreath around a line of diamonds and central foliate cluster, suspending a similar drop shaped swing cluster, with draped ribbon collet tassels either side, millegrain set throughout, with a fitted Cartier case, tool and tracelink chain necklet and pendant fitting, unsigned.

For a similar example see:

'Cartier. 1900-1939', Judy Rudoe, Abrams & Metropolitan Museum of Art 1997, p.78
Length 7.3cm / 2 3/8"
Weight: 21g