

S.J. PHILLIPS

19th century sapphire, ruby, emerald, gem and gold gothic revival brooch, c.1880, in the form of a round stained glass church window, ridged gold framework forming a circular edge and inner flowerhead, raised upon a colourful gem set ground, in circular bands of rubies, emeralds and sapphires, interspersed with brownish-orange and brownish-pink gems, probably garnets and zircons

Diameter 3.4cm / 1 5/16"

Weight: 19g