S.J. PHILLIPS

19th century three-tone blue enamel, diamond and pearl heart pendant locket by Carlo Giuliano, London c.1880, with bombe central field to each side, to one a GW cypher with rose cut diamond G and mid-blue enamel W, upon a rich dark blue guilloche enamel ground, mid-blue enamel border spaced by lozenge shaped collets inset with rose cut diamonds, with similar blue fleur-de-lys surmount and suspension bale, dark blue enamel dot flowerheads, the opposite side with gold central ground set with a lattice of small pearls, outer border of sky blue enamel spaced by lozenge apertures and dark blue dot flowerheads, similar to surmount and bale, the outside spaced by gold beads, opening to one side to reveal glazed locket compartments within, the inside of the suspension bale with the 'CG' oval plaque mark for Carlo Giuliano, together with original Giuliano case Length 5.7cm / 2"

Width 4cm / 1"
Weight: 45g