S.J. PHILLIPS

Early 19th century graduated peridot, garnet, topaz, sapphire and diamond bracelet, French c.1810, each coloured gem stone within a frame of small old-cut diamonds and spaced along the strap of open navette shaped diamond line links, to the centre a large octagonal peridot, flanked by an oval shaped pink topaz and a cushion garnet, to one end an oval sapphire to the other a garnet, the navettes formed of graduating cushion cut diamonds to one side and a double row of smaller diamonds opposite, each alternating giving the effect of undulating single and double lines, mounted in silver and gold Length 17cm / 6"

Width 1.7cm / 5/8"
Weight: 26g