

S.J. PHILLIPS

Art Deco two-tone citrine scroll cluster double-clip brooches forming a bangle by Cartier, Paris, each scroll in the form of stylised boteh, also known as paisley shape, set with a line of orangey-brown citrines of circular cut along the middle, topped to the curving end with a principal circular cut, oval faceted lighter orangey-brown citrines along either side, interspersed between with small box collet set diamond accents, for wear separately or upon the plain polished gold bangle fitting of torque form, mounted in 18ct gold and platinum, brooches signed 'Cartier Paris', serial number possibly 05369, French assaymarks, partial workshop mark to pin for Remont Dubois, the bangle signed 'CARTIER PARIS' and inscribed 'Depose', French 18ct gold assaymark and with same workshop mark as found to clip for Remont Dubois, accompanied by IAJA report no. XP2495-100725 signed by Olivier Bachet declaring that in his opinion this is a genuine Cartier item made by Cartier Paris

Length across clips upon bangle 9cm / 3 1/2"

Width approximately 3.5cm / 1 3/8"

Weight: 58.5g gross