

S.J. PHILLIPS

Late 19th century diamond flowerhead cluster ring, c.1890, the flower in the form of a dog rose, the five petals set throughout with diamonds of old brilliant, double eight and single cuts, around an old cut diamond collet dotted around by five rose cut diamond collet accents, open set in silver and gold, on a later added gold shank testing as 18ct, approximately 1.85cts of diamonds in all (including the central diamond of approximately 0.60ct)
Width 1.5cm / 5/8"
Weight: 5.5g